PUBS, BARS, CLUBS AND VENUE GROUPS

One monthly subscription. Unlimited entertainment possibilities.

Just £10 a month per venue. Every event, all included.

Why pay separately for every entertainment night you run? Many venues still purchase individual event packs, paying for a quiz one week, music bingo the next, and another product every time they want to try something new.

With DJIVE Standalone, you get the complete entertainment package for just £10 a month per venue. Run a quiz on Tuesday, music bingo on Friday, and as many other events as you like, all covered by the same affordable monthly subscription.

The more events you host, the greater your savings compared with purchasing each one individually.

Everything you need to keep your venue entertaining

DJIVE Standalone brings your entertainment into one easy-to-use Windows application, giving you the tools to create engaging nights, bring guests together, and encourage repeat visits.

Custom and online quizzes
Create your own quizzes, save them, and reuse them whenever you want, or source quizzes directly from the internet to get your next event ready with ease.

Music bingo
Turn songs you already own into an interactive, music-filled event, with printed tickets, phone cards, or both. The venue takes the money and hands out the tickets.

TV shoutouts and photos
Display guest messages and photos on your screens between games to keep everyone involved.

Number bingo
Run traditional bingo using printed tickets, guests' phones, or a combination of both. Guests pay the venue. DJIVE does not sell the tickets.

Prize wheel
Add a quick, exciting way to select winners and award prizes.

Plus lots more
Discover even more tools and features designed to make entertaining your customers easier and more engaging.

From quiz nights and bingo sessions to interactive entertainment, it's all included in one simple subscription, running on the Windows computer you already use behind the bar.

Simple to run. Easy to repeat.

Getting started is straightforward. Connect DJIVE to the TV screens you already have, let guests scan the on-screen code with their phones, and they're ready to join in with no app download required.

Your team stays in control throughout. Start a game when the room is ready, pause whenever you need to focus on service, and finish when it's time to move on to the next part of the evening.

And when next month comes around, there's no need to start from scratch. Load your saved event, get your team involved, and run the same successful night again.

More entertainment. More flexibility. One simple price.

DJIVE Standalone gives your venue the freedom to run the events you want, whenever you want, for just £10 per month.

Any day of the year

Lunchtime, a midweek, or the busiest night you run. The entertainment is there when you need the room full.

Create it. Host it. Repeat it.

Build your own quiz, bingo session or music night to attract customers and keep them coming back. Save your event and run it again whenever you want, without having to start from scratch.

Business venue whitelisting

Three venues for £24 a month. Each extra venue is £10. Every one of those computers is Pro.

Upload the company logo once. It shows on the venue TVs and on every guest phone, and those screens carry your company name.

You stay in charge from the company panel. Name each venue, move a seat to another site, change the phone link, unlink a computer, and see how the sites are doing. Stop one venue and the others carry on.

Send a picture or video, such as an advert, to one venue or to every venue at once. When that promotion ends, remove it and those TVs stop showing it.

Guests join in the browser. There is no fee per person.

BUSINESS VENUE WHITELISTING

Send an advert to every screen, or to one.

From the company panel on DJive.co.uk, a picture or a video can play on the TVs. One file can go to a single venue, or to every venue you run. You do not visit each site to change it.

Every venue, or just one

Add to every venue puts the same picture or video on every site. Add image or video on one venue card keeps it there. A drinks offer, a food menu, or a night you are pushing: head office sends it once.

It plays on the TV

Linked computers download it the next time DJIVE opens. It plays with the DJIVE background. A picture stays up for the time you set, from 5 to 120 seconds. A video plays through, then the next file starts.

When the promotion ends, it comes off

Remove it from one venue, or use Remove from all. The linked computers delete that file and the TV stops showing it, including while DJIVE is open. An offer that has finished does not stay on the screen.

A venue can still add its own

On that computer, open Settings, Background, then Open Custom Background Folder. Pictures and videos copied in there play on that TV as well. Those stay on that computer. They were not sent from the company panel.

HEAD OFFICE

One upload. The screens follow.

Send the advert from the company panel. Take it off from the same place, and the TVs drop it. The sites do not keep a finished promotion running.

YOU STAY IN CHARGE OF THE SCREEN

Turn pieces off. Keep the rest of the night.

A guest message only reaches the TV if you let it. The switches are in the booth, on the computer behind the bar, and they take effect straight away.

You're in control of what appears on screen

Every guest shoutout and photo stays in the mod panel until you're ready to display it on your TV screens. Prefer a faster, hands-off approach during busy nights? Enable auto-approval for shoutouts and photos whenever it suits your venue.

You can also create your own shoutouts or add your own photos directly through the mod panel and display them whenever you choose. You decide what gets shown, and when.

You're in control from start to finish

Only one game runs at a time, and you're always in control. Pause a game whenever you need to, or end it when you're ready to move on.

For bingo, you can verify winning claims, reject false claims, and even call the numbers yourself. During quizzes, you can remove players when necessary, keeping the game running smoothly and fairly.

Prizes are entirely up to you. Set the rewards, decide the winners, and hand out prizes directly. DJIVE manages the entertainment. You stay in control of the prizes and payments. Guests pay the venue for bingo tickets. DJIVE does not sell tickets, collect stakes, or handle prize money.

Your music, from the booth

The music player uses a folder of songs on that computer, or a playlist you have built. Play, pause, and resume from the booth. The tracks stay on this PC.

Song video can fill the TV when you turn it on. A game still takes the screen. If music bingo or a quiz needs the sound, the player waits, then comes back when that sound has finished. You choose the music. The room hears it from your own computer.

Clear the TV without closing

Wall off screen takes the QR, the chat, the game and the backgrounds off the TV. New messages wait. Press it again and they come back. Hold does a smaller version of the same thing: the big card and the side chat leave until you press it again. The program stays open either way.

Each part has its own switch

Shoutouts, photos, song requests, karaoke and tips can each be turned off. When one is off, it leaves their phone. The others stay.

Language and house rules

A blocked-word list is saved on that PC. A message can still go up, with each letter of a blocked word replaced by a star. House rules can sit in front of the first send. They tap I agree, and that phone is marked.

THE MANAGER

A PIN system for easy announcements

Each time you open the program you get a new 5-digit PIN. It stays in the booth. It is not on the TV. The manager types it on their phone, sets the venue name, and can add a logo that is remembered. Their notices go straight onto the wall, ahead of the queue.

FROM THEIR PHONE

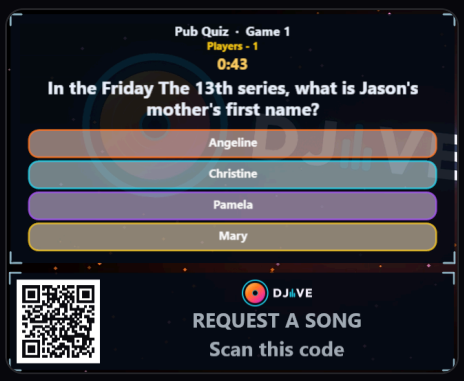

Control the mod menu from their phone

A PIN opens the mod menu on the manager's phone. From there they start a game, end it, and run the rest of the night: approvals, the screen, and whatever is on the TV. They do not need to be at the computer to control the night.

ALL OF THIS IS INCLUDED IN PRO PLUS MORE!

The same TV, from the quiz through to last orders.

These are screens from the program, mid-game. The QR stays up, so people can still join. Between games the wall carries on with shoutouts, photos and requests.

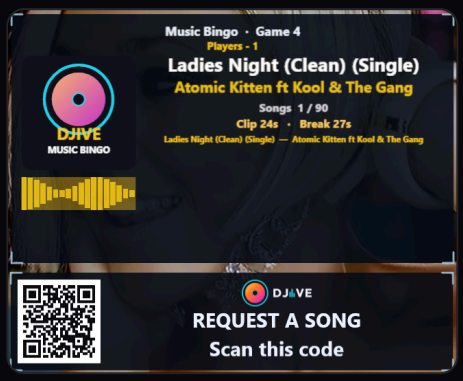

Pub quiz

Your questions, or a round from the internet you can swap out. Singles or teams. A timer, or you call time.

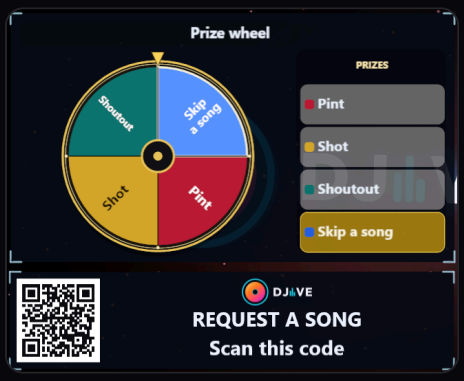

Bingo

15, 30, 75 or 90 numbers. Phone cards, paper, or both. Line, two lines and full house, each with its own prize. Guests pay the venue. DJIVE does not sell the tickets.

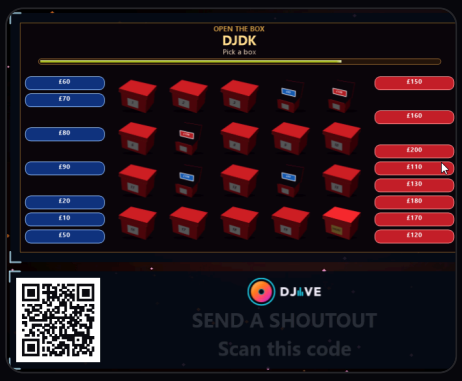

Music bingo

A folder of your songs and videos on that PC. The clip plays on the TV. They tick the songs on their phone.

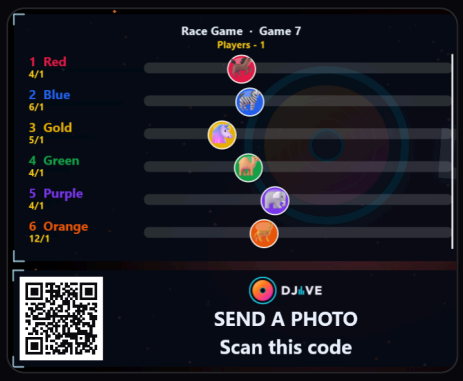

Prize wheel

Four to twelve prizes you type. You spin it from the booth. The room watches.

Open the Box

You fill 4 to 20 boxes. One player picks on their phone. You can offer a deal. They accept or reject.

Race Game

They pick a runner on the phone. You hand the prize over. A bit of fun on the TV, not a bookmaker.

Also in Pro: a raffle on the TV, Geo Guesser, and Snake, Pong or Breakout played by every phone in the room at once. Song requests can search a VirtualDJ, Serato, rekordbox, Engine DJ or Traktor library on that PC, or the guest types the title.

WRITE IT ONCE. LOAD IT WHEN YOU NEED IT.

A night should not start from a blank page.

The quiz stays on the computer

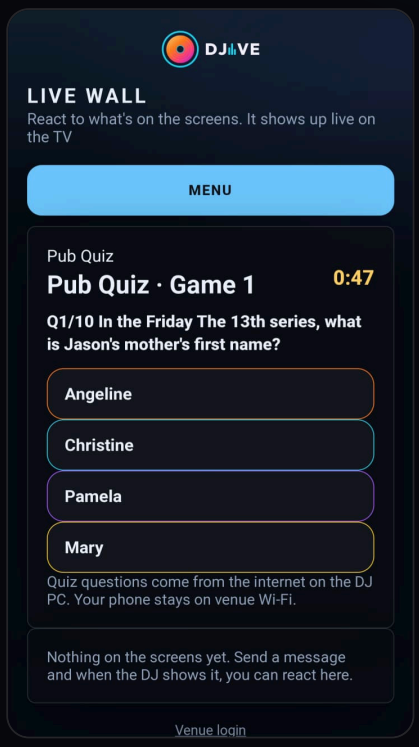

Type the question, the right answer and up to three wrong ones. Save it. Next time, load it, change a round, and save again. You can also pull questions from the internet and swap any you don't want before you start.

A bingo night saves as a pack

Build a run of games. Each one can be 15, 30, 75 or 90 numbers, with its own tickets and its own prizes. Save the pack under a name. Load it next month, change a prize, and run it again. Paper, phone cards, or mixed: that choice stays with the pack. Guests pay the venue, and the venue gives them the tickets. DJIVE does not sell them.

Your music, not a rented playlist

Point music bingo at a folder of your own songs and videos. Build the list. When the game ends, that list is still there for another round. A public venue still needs its own music licence. DJIVE does not supply one.

Same question on their phone. No app. Venue login is at the bottom, for the manager's PIN.

Sunday quiz

Write it in the afternoon. Save it. Next month, load the same quiz and change two questions.

Friday bingo

Four games in one pack. Eyes down, then a 75, then a full house. Same pack next Friday.

A music folder

Drop the songs in a folder once. Build the list. Run it this Saturday, and again when you want.

There is no library of 30,000 ready-made questions, and no pack of 36 rented music-bingo playlists. You write the night, or you pull quiz questions in and keep the ones you like. The 3-day Pro trial is enough to build one quiz, save it, and play it.
